

Oil Sands Karaoke

200 word synopsis

An unlikely group of rugged oil patch workers reveal extraordinary depth of character as they compete to win a karaoke contest in the remote Northern oilfields.

But it's not just any oil patch town. Northern Canada's Oil Sands project is the 2nd largest deposit of petroleum on Earth and the largest mine anywhere. The multinational oil corporations call their product "responsible, terror-free oil". Scientists however believe the world is literally choking to death on the fumes we generate burning the stuff.

That's not what Oil Sands Karaoke is about.

Meet Dan – a self-described redneck hauling tar sand to pay back family debts, Brandy - an adorable 1st Nations woman who credits her Oil Sands job with saving her life, Jason – a nerdy computer geek who drives a 7 million dollar truck digging himself out from a disastrous relationship, Chad - an amazingly talented labourer whose past mistakes drove him off the stage, and Massey - a deeply traumatized but successful 1st Nations oil patch business owner by day who transforms into an outrageously flamboyant drag queen by night...

We burn 90 million barrels of oil every day. Meet the people who make it.
