

Logline:

1/ When a pair of vampires offer a middle-aged cryptocurrency trader the immortality he craves, he's horrified by the price—becoming one of them—and must use his wits to escape their offer without facing the dark transformation.

2/ When a pair of vampires offer a middle-aged cryptocurrency trader the eternal life he's always dreamed of, his impossible wish becomes reality—but terrified of becoming one of the undead, he scrambles to outwit them and escape their offer.

Synopsis:

1/ “Touched by Eternity” tells the story of a middle-aged cryptocurrency trader named Fatso. He lives in a shabby trailer home where he spends his days playing video games, listening to podcasts about immortality and growing a belly. Despite his rather miserable way of living, he seems obsessed with living forever. Soon, Fatso receives unexpected visitors - a vampire duo Egons and Carlos - who promise him the eternal life he's been dreaming of by accepting his role as the “chosen one”. There is only one small catch - Fatso must actually face becoming a vampire.

2/ Fatso, a middle-aged cryptocurrency trader, leads a stagnant life in his run-down trailer, spending his days playing video games and listening to podcasts about immortality. Though his existence seems bleak, he's secretly obsessed with the idea of living forever. One day, his monotonous life is disrupted by two unexpected visitors—vampires Egons and Carlos—who offer him the eternal life he's longed for. However, there's a catch: to achieve immortality, Fatso must become a vampire himself. Terrified of the consequences, Fatso wants no part in this dark transformation. Desperate to avoid their offer, he embarks on a frantic attempt to trick the vampires and slip out of their grasp without facing the terrifying fate they’ve promised him.