

Under The Burning Sun

Synopsis & Log Line

Synopsis Full:

In a barren, desolate land where abortion is outlawed, Mowanza struggles with her unwanted pregnancy. When she hears of a distant land with a lenient abortion policy, Mowanza, armed with only a half-empty water bottle and a battered car, embarks on a journey across the desert towards the lush land of Iropus.

Synopsis Abreviated:

In a barren land where abortion is outlawed, Mowanza sets out across the desert toward Iropus, a distant place where choice may still be possible.

Log Line:

A desperate woman journeys across the desert toward the only place with choice.
